MY SPECIAL HAIR

Candice Dingwall | Jess Jardim-Wedepohl | Renate van Rensburg

I have a very special head
A special head of hair
My special hair is quite unique My special hair is rare

It grows not just on any head but mine

my own

just me

My special hair does special things

It's magic hair, you see

In summer when the sun is hot with no shade anywhere
I do not sweat, I do not burn
I grow a hat of hair

In winter when my nose turns red and when the cold wind blows my special hair grows very long I'm wrapped from top to toes

In spring when all the birds come out and each one builds a nest my head is full of songs because my special hair is best

In autumn when the leaves fall down no flowers to be found my special head begins to bloom bright blossoms all around

My special hair is stiff and strong
It does not hang or drape I never look the same because my hair can change its shape

My special hair is full of curls It's twisted tangled tough

My special hair grows hairy hands
A place to store my stuff

My special hair grows special wings

So smooth

so soft so light

They float around my face until my hair and I take flight

My special hair is colourful A rainbow all in one
It brightens up the darkest day
My hair is full of fun

My special hair is full of love
With love my head is crowned It grows and grows
until I spread it all around

So many types of special heads
So many types of hair
Be proud of what you have on top
Your magic grows up there
