

Pako the Pigeon Disappears

This book belongs to Every child should own a hundred books by the age of five. To that end, Book Dash gathers creative professionals who volunteer to create new, African storybooks that anyone can freely translate and distribute. To find out more, and to download beautiful, print-ready books, visit bookdash.org.

Pako the Pigeon Disappears
Illustrated by Cristy Zinn
Written by Tukupashya Ally Kasongo
Designed by Job Mubinya
Edited by Mandy Collins with the help of the Book Dash participants in the Virtual Book Dash on 15 May 2021.

ISBN: [Book Dash to insert]

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 Licence (<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>). You are free to share (copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format) and adapt (remix, transform, and build upon the material) this work for any purpose, even commercially. The licensor cannot revoke these freedoms as long as you follow the following license terms:

Attribution: You must give appropriate credit, provide a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made. You may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licensor endorses you or your use.

No additional restrictions: You may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything the license permits.

Notices: You do not have to comply with the license for elements of the material in the public domain or where your use is permitted by an applicable exception or limitation.

No warranties are given. The license may not give you all of the permissions necessary for your intended use. For example, other rights such as publicity, privacy, or moral rights may limit how you use the material.

This is Pako the  pigeon.

Pako goes,

“Coo! Coo!”

She flies and spreads out her wings.

She loves to fly over Namwayi and Dairine's house as they play
crisscross every day.

Coo! Coo!

Pako! Pako!

Namwayi and Dairine
love to imitate Pako.

They spread their little hands and run around the house.

One day, Pako did not fly over the house as usual.

Where could she be?

Dairine, Namwayi and the cat looked for Pako in the garden,

but she was not there.

They looked in the sky and they could not see Pako anywhere.

This made them
very sad.

Cat called to Pako:

Meow! Meow!

Cat heard Pako reply,
and followed the sound.

Coo!
Coo!

Oh no! Pako was caught in a thicket.

Not to worry, I have soft and tender paws. See!

 Cat carried Pako gently
to Namwayi and Dairine.
They could see that Pako had hurt her wing.

Pako's wing was very sore, but the girls took good care of her.

With Mum's help, Namwayi and Dairine bandaged
Pako's wing to help her heal quickly.

The girls
would shout,
“Good morning
Pako!”

When Pako healed, she flew home. But she would fly to the girls’ window each morning.

